

IAA Study Group Status Report

Responsible Commission: III

Study Number and Title: SG 3.26; Space Mineral Resources #2

Short Study Description (repeat from Study Group Proposal): This study is a follow-on to the highly successful Space Mineral Resources cosmic report #1. This report extends the present state of the industry to include economic case studies, a current legal analysis, and a clear annunciation of the broad societal benefits.

Progress in past six months: Three of four case studies completed in draft and in review. Three more chapters are being completed. The plan is to have a preliminary draft to review at the 2018 IAA Spring meeting.

Website Study Information update: (please give any update regarding Study Group Membership, documents, Study Plan and Schedule): IAA website posted with IAA workshop conducted at the International Space Development Conference in Los Angeles in May. This will begin the final report compilation process.

Issues requiring resolution? (recommend approach): None at this time

Product Deliveries on Schedule? (If modified explain rationale): Yes
